Faith Based Reentry: Realizing My Brother IS a Keeper

We often label reentry as the “second chance,” but many of our returning neighbors feel society has counted them out. As men and women transition from life in prison to life in the community, how do we show up with all of our values, culture, and faith traditions that ensure others know we CARE? Join us to discuss how faith-based reentry can promote rehabilitation, responsibility, and restoration- not the do’s and don’ts of religiosity. Our goal is to demonstrate that grace does not discriminate.
